

Jeremy Estop

Jeremy Estop BA (Hons) B Arch RIBA
Managing Director
Director for Cultural Buildings and Student
Accommodation

Jeremy joined the practice in 1987. He became a director when the company was incorporated and managing director in 2004. He has led the process of transferring ownership of the company into an employee benefit trust which was completed in 2007. He leads our student accommodation and cultural buildings unit.

He was and is responsible for completed and current University buildings in Oxford at St John's College and Balliol College and in London at Queen Mary College. In the conservation field, he led the team for the conversion of Boathouse 6, a Scheduled Monument in the Historic Dockyard at Portsmouth, funded by the Millennium Commission. He is responsible for the London Hostels Association's Torquay House redevelopment and abroad, he is responsible for the redevelopment of the British Embassy compound in Bangkok.

He has been responsible for office and mixed use developments, in particular Warwick Court, a £45m building in Paternoster Square, London, and a development in Wigmore Street, London. Also he was involved in the development of proposals for Battersea Power Station.

Shortlisted competition entries include projects for Kellogg and Pembroke College, Oxford; Selwyn College, Cambridge; Brighton University; the D.H.Lawrence Pavilion, Nottingham; the RSC theatre Stratford and the British Embassy, Berlin.

His experience in PFI's include a bid for the expansion of the University of Hertfordshire. He led lottery funded projects for the British Institute of Biography at Royal Holloway College, Egham, and the British and Commonwealth Museum in the grade 1 listed old Templemeads Station in Bristol. In the last two years, he has been a contributor to the professional practice course at the Bartlett School of Architecture in University College London. He is an assessor for the Civic Trust Awards.